

was stirring, not even a mouse; the stockings were hung

'Twas the night before Christmas and all through the house, Not a creature by the chimney with care. In hopes that Saint Nicholas soon would be there.

